THE WOMAN IN THE ARENA

It takes courage to lead, to be different, and to show up as an agent of change, particularly in the face of naysayers. It is bravery and authenticity – not fearlessness – that is our superpower. This talk explores what it means to be that Woman in the Arena who strives, who struggles, who keeps showing up, and who never loses track of who she is and what she stands for.

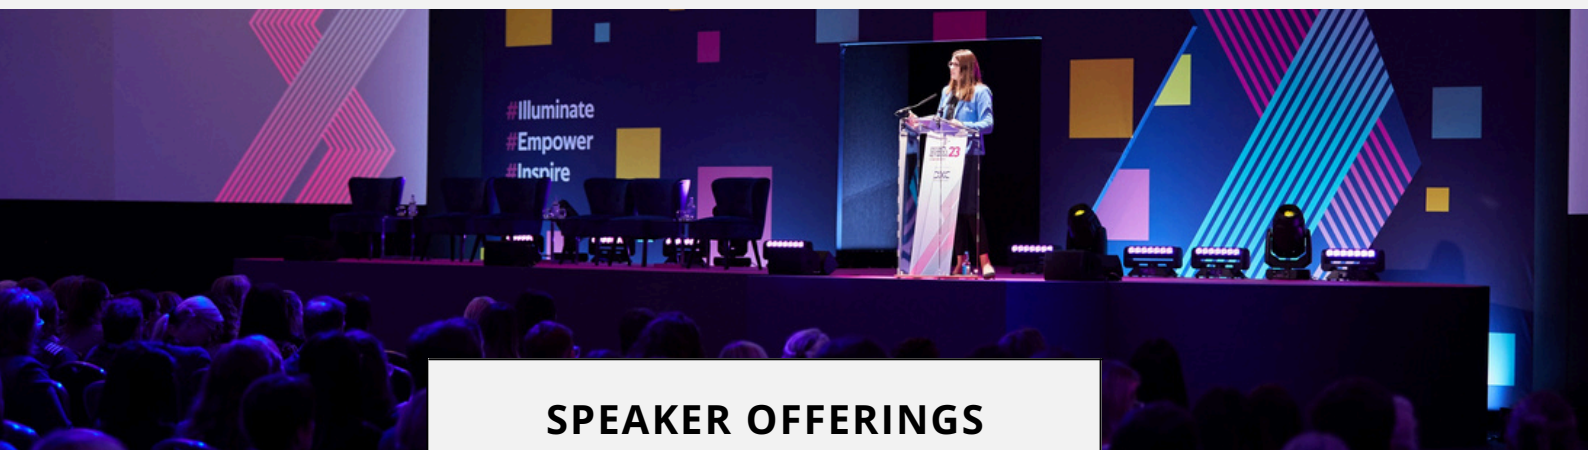

LAUNCH BEFORE YOU ARE READY

Perfectionism is often paralyzing, and it is not conducive to long-term, sustainable success. We must learn to embrace vulnerability, aim for progress over perfection, and launch ourselves – into roles, into opportunities, and into the world – before we are ready. This unlocks a realm of opportunities and paves the way to a bigger and more fulfilling life & career.

"I wanted to say a huge THANK YOU for such an inspirational talk. Kate was by far the highlight of the day. Her story reduced me to tears, and to share that vulnerability with such an audience was heartfelt, and I honestly wanted to give her a hug. I applaud Kate's ability to turn the hardest and scariest day of her career into an opportunity to use this as a tool to connect with others. Thank you to Kate for being such an inspiration!"
